

Looking Ahead to Advent 2018

This Advent we are going to revisit “Bridges to Contemplative Living with Thomas Merton”. We used this program for a year or two about eight or nine years ago. Focused on the writings of Thomas Merton, there are five sessions (for the four weeks of Advent and one for Christmas) for which each participant receives a book of readings with questions for reflection for each week. The meetings or group sessions involve what is called “contemplative dialogue”.

From the preface: “Contemplative dialogue is meant to be non-threatening, a “safe place” for open sharing and discussion. It is not outcome-oriented. It’s not even about fully understanding or comprehending what one reads or hears from the other participants. The focus is on listening rather than formulating a response to what another is saying. Simply hearing and accepting another’s point of view and reflecting on it can inform and enlighten our own perspective in a way that debating or analyzing it cannot. The pace of conversation is slower in contemplative dialogue than in most other conversations. We are challenged to listen more carefully and approach different points of view by looking at the deeper values and issues underlying them.”

Please consider participating in Bridges during this Advent. There will be opportunities to sign up in the Great Hall after Masses, or you can email me if you are interested or have any questions. Once we have an idea of how many are interested we can set up a group or groups and times to meet.

Advent begins on December 2 and it is during that first week that we will begin. It’s not far away at all!

God’s blessings,
Father Ceriello
