

SUMMERTIME

The summer season offers us all a change of pace in one form or another. Perhaps it has to do with vacation from school or work, travelling or just coping with warm weather. We should see this season as an opportunity for spiritual growth as well as leisure, and perhaps a blending of both. Some good spiritual reading, a few minutes more each day for prayer, or even setting aside a few hours, or a day, for quiet, prayer and reflection can make our leisure time more productive.

At the very least, we should continue to attend Sunday Mass. If you are travelling, you can visit the website: Masstimes.org to find a church and Mass schedule near wherever you are. Very often it happens that the most surprisingly pleasant and spiritually refreshing experiences occur when we attend Mass in a church along our travel itinerary.

Whether it involves travelling, or the equally beneficial staycation, we should be spiritually attentive to the gift of this season and the spiritual opportunities it presents to us. Time spent with the Lord in prayer and worship, time with family and friends, time making new friends and time alone are gifts to be valued and made the most of. Whatever you do I hope you have a beautiful summer!

God's blessings,
 Father Ceriello
